Solariscare charity dinner

By SHANELLE MILLER

SOLARISCARE cancer support centre in Bunbury is set to benefit from a Secret Garden Charity Dinner to be held in Perth next month.

The long table charity dinner will raise money for the centre and is being organised by St Catherine's College.

"Solariscare is an organisation which began in Perth and offers support and treatments for cancer patients and their carers," event coordinator Emma White said.

"They have recently opened up a centre in

Bunbury that is in need of the support of the community.

The event will serve a gourmet meal at the dinner showcasing the food and wine from the South West.

There will also be a silent auction and entertainment.

The Secret Garden Charity Dinner will be held on Saturday, October 15 in the main courtyard at St Catherine's College in Nedlands.

Tickets are $90 and are available by contacting Emma White on 0400 787 392 or www.try-booking.com/UKA

Bunbury MLA John Castrilli meets with volunteer NoelMary O'Connell, SolarisCare Foundation CEO David Edwards and Solariscare South West coordinator Carline Turner during the centre's opening celebrations earlier this year.
